DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 2, 3, and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 2 recites the limitation "said sheet surface" in line 4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 3 recites the limitation "the surface of said sheet" in line 4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 5 recites the limitation "said film surface" in 11. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 5 recites the limitation "the surface of said film" in 20. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3653

Claims 1, 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hisajima et al.

Hisajima et al. teaches an apparatus for changing the direction of transport of a sheet by about 75 to 90 degrees, comprising: a first flat guide, 18, for contacting the leading edge of a sheet and changing its transport direction by an acute angle; a second concave curved guide, 22, spaced from the first guide for contacting the leading edge of the sheet to change its direction of transport by about 75 to 90 degrees. Hisajima further teaches a first driven roller located adjacent to an end of the first guide for transporting the sheet towards the second guide, the roller preventing contact of a sheet surface with the first guide. He also teaches a second driven roller, 50, located below a first roller, 42, for contacting the sheet to allow continued turning of the sheet, see figure 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hisajima et al. in view of Hollar et al.

Hisajima et al. fails to teach a first segmented roller and a first segmented guide which fits into the recesses of the segmented roller, but Hollar et al. does teach such a feature, see figures 1 and 3.

Art Unit: 3653

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the are to combine the segmented roller and segmented guide of Hollar et al. with the apparatus of Hisajima et al. if one desired tp reducethe imparting to the sheet material of friction, static charge, and foreign material while minimizing burnishing by minimizing the contact between the guide and the transported sheet by having the segmented roller be positioned at a height above the guide in order to reduce the contact between the sheet surface and the guide.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 5 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Claim 5 recites the limitation that during transport only the leading edges and/or trailing edges of the film come into contact with the first and second guides. After an extensive search of the prior art the examiner was unable to find a reference that taught such a feature, either in combination or alone. As a result claim 5 contains allowable subject matter.

Claims 6 and 7 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
